

Public Notice

The Indiana Finance Authority (IFA), in coordination with the Louisville and Southern Indiana Bridges Authority, will accept public comments regarding the IFA's intent to have prepared a preliminary feasibility study and economic impact study for the proposed Ohio River Bridges Project, which is intended to address long-term, cross river transportation needs in Louisville, Ky. and Southern Indiana. The meeting will be held:

February 2, 2012, at 6:00 p.m.
Sheraton Hotel, Riverside Ballroom
700 West Riverside Dr.
Jeffersonville, IN 47130

The purpose of the preliminary feasibility study would be to assess the feasibility of using a public-private financial and project delivery structure for the East End portion of the project involving a new bridge near Utica, Indiana and Prospect, Kentucky that, with its approaches, will link the Lee Hamilton Expressway and Gene Snyder Freeway. The purpose of the economic impact study would be to determine the economic impacts of the project on existing commercial and industrial development, potential impacts on employment and future development, as well as the possible fiscal impacts on local units of government.

Public comments will be accepted in the following ways:

- Speaking publicly from a podium
- Written submittals using forms provided at the meeting
- Written submittals online at www.bridgesauthority.com beginning January 30, 2012 (comments will be accepted until 10 a.m., February 6, 2012)
